First District-CHAS. G. WILLIAMS, of Rock. SENATORIAL.

For State Senator-Seventeenth District-HAMILTON RICHARDSON,

THE STATE BOARD OF HEALTH. We have received from Dr. J. T. Reeve, thinks the State papers have been too severe in their criticisms regarding the action not believe the papers would intentionally misrepresent the motives of the construction of the dam belonging to the postoffices, the Government can and will Messrs. Greene. The Gazette certainly had no sinister motive in dealing out criticism concerning the investigation. We were surprised then that the Board of Health should go into the history of the building of the Miltord dam, when it had no more to do with that than it had with the Rock county court house; and after reading Dr. Reeve's very courteous letter, in which certain explanations are made, we cannot change our minds regarding the interest, but the bonds would be worth ridiculousness of the Board's action. be all right, we fail to see it. It is the business of the courts to ask Mr. Greene & Son when, how, and by what authority they built the Milford dam ; but the State Board of Health should ascertain whether or not the overflowage actually creates disease, the nature of the disease, the percentage of fatality in the "overflowed" districts, when and under what circumstances diseases were most prevalent and fatal, and so on. These things the public would like to know, and probably the State Board will tell all about it; but we fail to understand the relation

THE TEMPLE OF HONOR AND PRO-HIBITION. Most Worthy Templar, J. N. Stearns, of New York, has submitted his annual report to the Supreme Council, of the Temple of Honor, which is now in session in this city. The report contains many items of interest to all having sympathy with the alms and the spirit of the Order. Among the questions discussed by Mr. Stearns, is "the Order and politics," in which he takes a position worthy of notice. He claims that prohibition and total abstinence, go hand in hand, and that but little permanent progress can be made by the Order so long as the traffic in liquor is licensed by the State. in short, he means to have all templars understand that they must work as earnestly for the suppression of the traffic in liquor, as for total abstinence, and that to vote for or to advocate license to sell intoxicating drinks, is a violation of the obligation of a templar. The question of prohibition has been discussed for years, and has been one of the cardinal principles of temperance societies for half a century. The history of the movement to suppress the traffic in liquor is not without interest or significance. In every State where it has been tried, it has proved an utter failure so far as abolishing drunkenness is concerned. The Maine law proved to be a farce, and Massachusetts prohibition was no remedy for the eyils of intemperance. In nearly every case, absolute prohibition has been tound impracticable. It has not lessened drunkenness neither has it been the means of suppressing the sale of liquor. The question then 15, and 1t is a very importan one, when a person can not believe in the doctrine or the practicability of prohibition, shall he be expelled from the Order One would suppose that when a man's heart is in the work of temperance, when he not only will not drink himself, but persuades others to do likewise, that he favor of no one in particular. should be eligible to sit in a Temple, but according to Brother Stearns' opinion, he is not. We believe this is rather a harsh judgment, though it may be according to he has taken a long stride toward success the spirit of the Order. There are a great by securing the opposition of the Sentinel. State favoring bim, it was a great disapmany men in Wisconsin, who have done noble temperance work and yet do not believe that prohibition can be made, successful. Why not let such men stay in the Order and continue their work for good. on the other agitator-Dennis Kearney. Crystal Temple of Honor in Janesville has covered itself with glory. It has done as much substantial good for temperance reformation as any similar organization which ever existed in this State. Its career be truly said to remarkable, and yet the prohibition question has not been uppermost in the work of the Temple. It would be a good thing if suppression of the traffic could be accomplished, but we believe it as utterly and other banks in the yellow fever secimpossible to make prohibition general, as it is to suppress swearing. Undervaluations at the New York Custom House--The Congressional Nominations and How They are Panning Out.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14-The report of the commission of experts which examined the system of appraisement at the various custom houses throughout the country, and to inquire into the complaints of Western merchants in regard to the undervaluation of goods at the New York Custom House, has been lying on Secretary Sherman's says of the London: desk for over two weeks, awaiting his return. The contents of the report have been concealed with great care, and no one about the Treasury Department except Tingle, chief of special agents, and the opinions formed by the commission. The report is very long, and is said to be very comprehensive, but whether it justifies the complaints of Western merchants, and what recommendations are made, will be known only when Secretary Sherman proposes to make the report

What Becomes of Wealth.

A boot and shoe dealer has hanging in his store a pair of boots worth $7. They constitute a part of his wealth, and a portion of the wealth of the world. A man buys them and begins to wear them; by friction against the pavement little particles of the leather are rubbed off, and thus separated from the rest of the sole. Every particle that is thus removed takes out a portion of the value of the boots, and when the boots are entirely worn out the $7 of wealth which they formed is consumed. The wheat, corn, etc , which was raised by our farmers last summer is being eaten up. No particle of matter is destroyed by this process, but the value which was in the

OUR WIVES.

The Changes that Occur in the First Ten Years of Married Life.

From the Philadelphia Bulletin. A young woman during the first week of her married life entertains vague suspicions that the statements of older wives, that the way to a man's heart is through his mouth, are true. Her Charles, who is almost, if not quite, exempt from human failings, bas already manifested a profound admiration for yeal pies, and has openly expressed his detestation to overdone mutton. She accordingly builds up within her 5 15 A M-Going East, mail and passenger for a fortress of resolution, in which to guard Racine, making connections with that sacred treasure of a husband's affeca fortress of resolution, in which to guard tion. In her girlhood this young woman had spent much time in cultivating her musical taste, in reading Emerson and Carlyle; she had been fond of pretty landscapes, and could use her pencil with effect, and she had been heard to declare with pride, that when she married she would give up none of these things.

Let us visit her now, at the end of ten years of matrimony, and we will find that she has broken her yow and thrown it to Elimothy Seed-7021 00 for 46 hs according to the winds. We find a tiresome sort of quality person, whose whole intellect is absorbed in attending to the cares of bousekeeping, and in getting stylish dresses for her children. Her conversation rises seldom above perience are expressed in her conviction that men are the most unreasonable and selfish of creatures, and women the most abused and self-sacrificing.

There is a great evil somewhere, but what is it? The husband acknowledges to himself that he is disappointed in the wife he has chosen, and yet he finds difficulty in pointing out his mistake, and hardly finds cause to blame her, for is she not a faithful wife, a devoted mother and a most frugal manager? The mistake is a national characteristic. So passionate and intense is the American mind in pursuit of Its temporary interests, the men will sufter the chains of business to bind them down and throttle them, while their wives bend beneath a simple yoke of duty at

What is lacking is the power to rise above the petty annoyances of daily life; we need to learn to distinguish trifles from affairs of moment, to know that every mole hill is not a mountain. We need not forsake the upper strata of sentiment thought and ideality-the atmosphere of the soul-because we know there is a lower one of trifles and small vexations, in which our feet are told to tread. To breathe in the one is to receive strength and exertion in the other. It is a good plan to pick up pins and needles from the floor, but picking up pins ought not to be made the chief object of existence; for if we move along with our heads constantly downward we most assuredly will see

Sea-Sick Animals.

It is a fact perhaps not widely known that most of the wild animals procured for the menageries and geological gardens of Europe and America are brought from Africa by a German New Yorker named frequently carry these annimals to the United States, and it is interesting to hear

Love-Making in Portugal.

From the Norristown Herald. The mode of making love in Portugal is very simple-but it lacks energy and the true inwardness of the American article. The Portugal young man pays his addresses by simply standing in front of the bouse occupied by the object of his affection, while the young lady looks down approvingly from an upper window, and that's all there is of it. No gumdrops, no measuring of waists with arms, no peanuts, no gazing into the hauid depths of love-melting eyes, no and-so-torth. It is a great saving of the old man's gas and fuel, but on a cold night the young man is liable to have his ears frozen, unless he carries a stove in his coat tail pocket. RADICAL

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATAKRH IS a safe, certain, and permanent cure for Catarrh of every form, and is the most perfect remedy ever devised. It is purely a vegetable distillation, and is applied locally by insuffaction, and constitutionally by internal administration. Locally applied, relief is intantaneous. It soothers, heals, and cleanses the nasal passages of every feeling of heaviness, obstruction, dulness, or dizzlness. Constitutionally administered it renovates the blood, purifies it of the acid poison with which it is always charged in Catarrh, stimulates the stomach, liver, and kidneys, perfects digestion, makes new blood, and permits the formation of sound, healthy tissue, and finally obtains complete control over the disease. The remarkable curative powers, when all other remedies utterly fall, of Sanford's Radical Cure, are attested by thousands who gratefully recommend it to fellow-sufferers. No statement is made regarding it that cannot be substantiated by the most respectable and reliable references. It is a great and good medicine, and worthy all confidence. Each package contans a Treatise on Catarrh and Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaling Tube, and full directions for its use in all cases. Price $1. A. A. Mellier, Washington Av., City.—Dear Mellier: I have for some years been troubled with Catarrh, and for the past two years have suffered seriously with it. Noticing your advertisement of Sanford's Remedy (Radical Cure), I decided to try it. I have used only two bottles, and as a result I feel so much relieved that I presume on our personal relations and write this to you and ask that you take some measures to get it more prominently before the public, that others may have such relief as I have. I have recommended it to quite a number of my friends, all of whom have expressed to metheir high estimate of its value and good effects with them. with them.

I really think it particularly adapted to wants of St. Louis people, and they all ought to know of it, and those who need it should try it. I will risk the assertion that 1000 1 oz. vials (as a sample) to be given away will sell as many bottles.

Try some plan. Let the people have it; they need it. I believe I could sell 5000 bottles myself—of course you could largely increase this number. Why not try it? Yours truly, WM. BOWEN. Sold by all Wholesale and Retail Druggists and Dealers in Medicine throughout the United States and Canadas. WEEKS & POTTER, General Agents and Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.

LAME BACK

Messrs. Weeks & Potter: Gentlemen, — One year ago I was selzed with a severe attack of Rheumatism In my right hip, to which I was subject. I tried the various liniments and rheumatic cures, but without the least benefit, when my son, a druggist, suggested one of your Collins' Voltaic Plasters. The effect was almost immediately well again, and was able to work upon my farm as usual, whereas, before the application of the Plaster, I could do nothing, and every stepgaveme pain. A few weeks since, one year from the first attack, the disease returned, but I am happy to say the second Plaster proved as efficacious as the first, and I am now well. My wife wishes me to add that one Plaster has cured her of a very lame back. We think there is nothing in the world of remedies that can compare with the Collins' Voltaic Plasters for Rheumatism and Lame Back, and cheerfully recommend them to the suffering. Yours very respectfully, Obland, Me., June 6, 1876. ROBERT COTTON. Messrs. Weeks & Potter: Gentlemen, - One year

NOT A QUACK NOSTRUM. Gentlemen,—I hereby certify that for several years past I have used the Voltage Plasters in my practice, and have never known them to fail in affording speedy relief in those cases for which they are recommended. They are not a quack nostrum, are recommended to the part of the part but a remedial agent of great value. Very truly yours, W. C. COLLINS, M. D. BUCKSPORT, ME., May 27, 1874.

PRICE 25 CENTS.

Be careful to obtain Collins' Voltaic Plaster, a combination of Electric and Voltaic Plates, with a highly Medicated Plaster, as seen in the above cut. Sold by all Wholesale and Retail Druggists throughout the United States and Canadas, and by WEERS & POTTER, Proprietors, Boston, Mass.

Dated August 12th, 1878.

Was Discovered by a Reporter in the Midst offthe Busy City-How it Looked, What it Contained, and who Occupied It.

Going up in the elevator of Marshall Field's building, at the corner of State and Madison streets, a reporter of the Inter this might be. Imagine a large, long room, with two great windows draped in soft, rich colors, hung on golden poles, and throwing a chastened light upon the exquisitely frescoed ceiling, with its Oriental tracings, on a ground of pale blue, continued in its effect by walls of the same cerulean hue, over which ran riot graceful vines and lilies in gold, touched white, finshed with a handsome cornice, and forming an effective contrast to the superb tapestry carpet and Queen Anne furniture of gilt, inlaid ebony, uphoistered in quaint artistic designs in raw silk. Between the windows stood a superb mirror in French glass, finished at the top with gold panels, exquisitely hand-painted, and matching it in style, were beautiful art cabinets, writing-desks, and tables, wrought in the same materials, and finished, where cloth was necessitated, in pale blue. Above them hung fine prints, photographs, and watercolors, with here and there a marble bust or artistic wood-carvings. Stretched out in luxurient repose on the velvetry carpet lay a graceful white grayhound, and another beauty of the same breed, though maltese in color, stood admiring his charms in the plate-glass front of a cabinet. What was it, a studio? no, too orderly for that; a lawyer's lair? no, for no dusty legal lore laid piled up ; a doctor's office ? not a bit of it, for skull and cross-bones were missing; neither was there show of shining steel. At this moment the reportorial optics were arrested by a pretty little table, daisty enough for a lady, finished in through which turned a pair of grindstones (the mystery thickens), and near it, on the window sill, glittering in the sunlight, lay a collection of minerals, among them a large lump of Brazilian pebble, sparkling remarkable cures. as ice, a rough nugget of green glass filled by some chemical process with curious feathery crystals, a piece of Scotch pebble speckled with brown moss-like marks, a finely cut and polished square of green glass. Absorbed in his observations the reporter did not notice the light foot tread of a gentleman entering from the reception room until they stood face to face, and was greeted with graceful courtesy; the scribe ound himself to be chatting with none other than Professor Morris Bernhardt, late of Berlin, Prussia, and now established in Chicago, to pursue his profession of likes it.

The Professor was amiable, and after listening to some deserved compliments on his artistic apartments, condescended to answer a few interrogations. "To what use could these specimens of glass be put?" was the first query. "They are used in making spectacles for the different cases of myopia, or affections of the eye; some require one sort of glass, some another." "Where do you have them made, Professor?" "Here, under my own supervision.

There stands my work-table, pointing to the dainty little stand before mentioned." "Will you show me some of your instruments for examining and testing the eye-

MR. H R STEVENS: Madison streets, a reporter of the Inter Ocean caught a glimpse, through an open door, of a suite of rooms that seemed to be a blaze of blue and gold spleador. Curiosity beckoned, and following her inviting finger the reporter paused in his aerial flight, slid back the wire door, and, paring through the corridor, stood on the threshold of the first apartment to admire, and to query as Birst apartment to admire, and to query as | 1 can truly say I was discouraged. I said to my family I will try some of the Vegetine; Before I had used the first bottle I began to feel better. I made up my mind I had got the right medicine at last. I could now sleep well nights. I continued taking the Vegetine. I took thirteen bottles. My health is good. The Ulcer is gone, and I am able to attend to business. I paid about four hundred dollars for medicine and doctors before I bought the Vegetine. I have recommended Vegetine to others with good success. I always keep a bottle of it in the house now. MONROE TEMPLARS. This morning's train from Monroe brought to this city about sixty Templars of Honor from Monroe and Brodhead, who were met at the depot by the Committee of Reception. A procession was formed headed by the Monroe Band, which accompanied the excursion, and the line of march was taken up, it being down Mil wankee street to Lappin's hall, where the excursionists disbanded until the afternoon parade. The Monroe Band presented & very fine appearance indeed. They numbered fifteen picces, and were uniformed very attractively, wearing feathered helmets, and dark blue coats and pants, tastily and elegantly trimmed with military trappings. The band had something however, besides good clothes. They have fine instruments, and better than all, they know how to use them. The music which they discoursed as they marched down the street, was indeed inspiring, and showed that they ment fully the highly complimentary notices which they have so frequently received. The citizens of Janesville have long had a favorable opinion of this band, but yet they were happily sur, prised on seeing and hearing them to day It is not to be wondered at that they rank so high in this State. Forepaugh's great circus, which has so lavishly decorated the bill-boards for weeks past, arrived by rail at about 5 o'clock this morning, by special train from Monroe. Small boye, who were posted folded not their arms in slumber, but hurried from under the bedclothes to the degreeted the arrival of the train, and with eagle eyes from that time henceforth forever, watched every move of the show and its men. A little later the main streets were thronged with people. Staid old tolks who had in years past whipped their boys many times over for asking to go to the circus, appeared on the scene. and persistently held down dry-gools boxes and curbings, while they patiently waited for the parade. The shower soon passed, and the day smiled happily. After a rather tedious delay the circus procession appeared headed by a gorgeous band wagon, and with martial music, flying banners, red-jacketed drivers, plumed horses, and gay wagons, Forepaugh made his advent. There were about 100 horses and about 30 cages and chariots. Upon the top of one cage lay quietly an unchained, unfettered lion, while another cage contained bloodymouthed tigers, who were kept roaring and howling at their keeper who sat in the cage with them, keeping them under control by the lash of his whip. Seven elephants, two of them of monstrous size, joined in the parade followed by camels, while an elegant car emblazoned with gilt and mirrors, and guarded by old continental soldiers, with the goddess of liberty sitting supreme upon a globe repre-

visited this city. Forepaugh brings here as large and valuable a collection of animals as will ever, in all probability, be shown in this city. His tents, mammoth in size, will be crowded, doubtless, this evening, as they were this afternoon; for besides the wonderful menagerie, containing one of the largest and best collections to be seen anywhere, there are the arenic wonders which are not to be excelled. The circus is already so well and favorably known that it needs but little further notice.
